 November 1st deadline   CALL FOR PAPERS AND POSTERS

1999...A BRIDGE TO THE MILLENNIUM
1999 Joint NCNMLG/MLGSCA Meeting
February 5-7, 1999 Fairmont Hotel, San Jose, CA

The 1999 Joint Meeting Program Committee encourages you to participate in the next Joint Meeting by submitting a proposal for either a contributed paper or poster. Papers and posters on any topic are welcome. Those showing ways libraries are responding to or preparing for future changes and innovation are particularly encouraged.

This is a wonderful opportunity to share information with your colleagues. You might consider making a joint presentation with a co-worker. Also, if you know of librarians who are working on projects or involved in research that you think might make an interesting paper or poster, please submit their names and they will be contacted by one of the chairs. Those of you who are planning to present a paper or poster at MLA next year might consider this as a chance to hone your presentation skills before a smaller audience. A few suggested topics:

- Digital Libraries
- Intranets
- Collection Development and Electronic Resources
- Alternative Career Paths
- Distance Learning
- Promoting the Internet
- Telemedicine
- Outreach Projects

For Papers: Two copies of an abstract (250 words maximum) describing the contributed paper may be submitted by mail, email, or fax to the appropriate chairperson. The first copy should list all authors and institutional affiliations. The second copy will be used in a blind review process and should not include any information identifying authors or institutions. A WRITTEN PAPER IS NOT REQUIRED. Those whose abstracts are accepted should be prepared to speak for approximately 15 minutes.

For Posters: A copy of an abstract (250 words maximum) describing the poster and its purpose may be submitted by mail, email, or fax to the appropriate chairperson. EMAIL IS PREFERRED. List all presenters and institutional affiliations.

Please submit your paper or poster proposals by November 1 to:

ISI/FRANK BRADWAY ROGERS INFORMATION ADVANCEMENT AWARD

The Medical Library Association’s Awards Committee is seeking nominations for the ISI/Frank Bradway Rogers Information Advancement Award. The award was established in 1982 and was awarded for the first time in 1983 to Frank Bradway Rogers, M.D. The award is presented annually to an individual (or a small group of individuals) who has or have made an outstanding contribution to the application of technology to the delivery of health sciences information, to the science of information, or to facilitate the delivery of health sciences information. It is preferred that the nominees be members of the Medical Library Association. Past winners comprise a very distinguished list of individuals and project efforts; the list is available on the MLA site at http://www.mlanet.org/awards/winners.html

The $500 award is sponsored by the Institute for Scientific Information, and presented based on selection by the Rogers Award Jury of the MLA Awards Committee. The cash award and a certificate will be presented to the award recipient at the 1999 Medical Library Association annual meeting.

The deadline for nominations is November 1, 1998. The nomination forms are available from the Professional Development Department at MLA (contact information below).

Six copies of the completed form should be sent to:

============================================================================= CANCERLIT< and PDQ< To Be Removed from the NLM Databases ---
Available from NCI’s Web Site

The National Cancer Institute (NCI), together with the National Library of Medicine (NLM), has decided to cease including direct MEDLARS access to CANCERLIT and PDQ. These databases will no longer be available on the NLM computer effective December 14, 1998, the date that NLM will bring up its 1999 system. When CANCERLIT is withdrawn, it will contain data through its 9811 Entry Month. Accordingly, NLM will also discontinue leasing CANCERLIT.

PDQ information and the CANCERLIT database are available on the NCI’s CancerNet (TM) Web site http://cancernet.nci.nih.gov. Searchers do not need to wait until December to acquaint themselves with the search features that CancerNet offers for thes databases. You can visit this Web site now. You can access these databases through one of the NCI’s licensing partners. For more information on how to get PDQ or CANCERLIT, call the NCI’s PDQ/CANCERLIT Service Center (1-800-345-3300, fax to 1-800-380-1575 or e-mail to pdqsearch@icic.nci.nih.gov). Information on vendors that license PDQ and CANCERLIT from the NCI can be obtained by fax (301-480-8105) or by e-mail license@icic.nci.nih.gov.

NATIONAL MEDICAL LIBRARIANS MONTH

October is here which means now is the time to begin celebrating MLA’s second annual National Medical Librarians Month. Our goal is to use the month to heighten the awareness of related professionals and the general public about the value that medical librarians bring to the health care team. Take advantage of this month to promote your expertise and library services in new and exciting ways. Check out the NMLM page on MLANET for promotional ideas and materials at <http://www.mlanet.org/press/nmlmonth.html>

The primary focus of this campaign is the quality of the services you provide as a professional medical librarian. Be proactive and toot your own horn! You and your colleagues are a critical link in the chain of health care delivery. Use National Medical Librarians Month as a catalyst to increase your fellow professionals’ awareness of your important skills and achievements.

CREATIVE PROMOTION AWARD

To award your efforts in celebrating National Medical Librarians Month, MLA has established the Creative Promotion Award to be presented to the MLA member who designs and implements the most creative promotional idea with which to celebrate National Medical Librarians Month in his or her institution. The winner will receive:

* $100 in “MLA Money” applicable towards any MLA publications, fees, dues or annual meeting registrations

* Special mention in MLA News, MLANET and National Medical Librarians’ Month press release

Please submit your entries with a letter of 200 words or less describing your promotion and how well it worked, along with supporting evidence such as a display or preferably a photo. Send the entries to Tomi Gunn at the MLA headquarters office who will pass them along to our public relations consultant, PCI, for judging. After the winner is announced, all entries will be given a one-paragraph description then posted on MLANET, which will allow members to share promotional ideas.

If you have any questions or requests, please contact Tomi Gunn at the headquarters office at 312/419-9094 x11 or mlams@mlahq.org.

Good Luck for a successful NMLM celebration. We look forward to receiving your entries!!

MLA MOVES TO NEW LOCATION

After ten years at its current location in Chicago, the Medical Library Association (MLA) will be relocating. MLA’s new address, which was effective September 28, 1998, is Suite 1900, 65 E. Wacker Place, Chicago, IL 60601-7298. MLA’s telephone number, fax number, e-mail, and lock box addresses will remain the same. The new headquarters office is four blocks north and one block west of its current location, very close to the Hyatt Regency Chicago, site of MLA’s 1999 Annual Meeting. MLA will host a reception at the new headquarters during the 1999 annual meeting so everyone can visit the new office space.

MLA’s move was precipitated by the 6 N. Michigan building owner’s desire to sell the building and reluctance to negotiate a new lease. In 1997, MLA staff began to explore locations in Chicago for a new headquarters site and in August 1998, signed a lease for the new location. MLA was notified in late August that the 6 N. Michigan building had been sold.

MLA Headquarters will remain open during the move with, we hope, no disruption in phone and electronic communication. All members and organizations affiliated with MLA will receive a postcard notification of the move as well as electronic communication where possible. There will also be an article in the October 1998 issue of MLANews about the move. Please visit the new headquarters location in May 1999, or whenever you are in Chicago!
Save the Date!

Our NCNMLG winter meeting will be held on Friday, December 4, 1998.

The time of the meeting will be 9:00 am -- 1:00 pm. A continental breakfast will be served. Lunch is on your own.

The meeting will be held at the UCSF Millberry Conference Center, the City Light (big) room.

Our speaker will be: David Copenhaver of Lucid Technologies.

More information to follow, but, for now, Save the Date.

See you at the next meeting.

General listserv: ncnmlg@krypton.stanford.edu
Board listserv: ncnmlgbd@krypton.stanford.edu

Everyone is encouraged to subscribe to either or both of these lists. They are very low-volume lists designed for communication of important information from NCNMLG to its members. They won’t fill your mailbox with too many messages. The only time you will need to unsubscribe is when your e-mail number changes. In this case two actions are necessary. You will need to unsubscribe your old e-mail number and then subscribe the new number. This keeps our listserv current!

TO SUBSCRIBE:

send a message to: majordomo@krypton.stanford.edu

International Anyone?

by Donna Flake

For many years, I have been heavily involved with the International Cooperation Committee of MLA. The pleasures and rewards of this work have been tremendously important to me. I want to encourage you to pay the $10 extra above the regular MLA dues to join this dynamic and fascinating section of MLA.

About the International Cooperation Section of MLA

The International Cooperation Section of MLA was established in 1989. (Prior to this there was an International Cooperation Committee of MLA.) This group of members from over 25 countries value the international sharing of ideas and resources and the coming together of librarians from different lands.

Some of the work of this section includes:

A sister library program
A Job Exchange Committee
Providing an annual International Reception at MLA.

MLA consults with the chairman of the International Cooperation Section when selecting several of its appointments including:

MLA Representative to EAHIL
MLA Representative to Canada

This section’s newsletter is excellent and highlights international medical librarians’ work around the globe. The website at (http://ahsl.arizona.edu/ics) is fascinating and provides a good overview of section activities.

Carole Gall is the current chairman of the International Cooperation Section of MLA. She can be contacted at cfgall@iupui.edu or phone: 317/274-1411.

Two of the 1998-1999 goals of the ICS include:

* global connectivity
* information technology transfer

I want to share with you how my work with the section has improved my life:

My first involvement with the International Cooperation Committee (forerunner of the International Cooperation Section), was being asked to join when I returned from a six month medical library job exchange in England in 1984. I was delighted to join this dynamic and passionate group of librarians who cared deeply about the cause of international cooperation. In 1989, the International Cooperation Committee was dissolved, and the new International Cooperation Section came into existence.

One result of my international efforts was that in 1986, in 1988, and in 1992, I visited England to present papers or poster sessions at the Medical Health, and Welfare Librarians Group (which was recently renamed the Health Librarians Group). In 1991, I was asked to present the keynote address at the Second Annual CD-ROM Conference in Tokyo.
Over the years, I have done a great deal of work with the International Cooperation Section. Twice I served as a member of the Cunningham Fellow Selection Jury and once as Itinerary Chair for the Cunningham Fellow. Twice, Cunningham Fellows stayed with me in Wilmington, North Carolina. From 1993 until 1998, I chaired the Job Exchange Committee of the International Cooperation Section.

In 1995, MLA appointed me as their representative to EAHIL. (The European Association of Health Information and Libraries.) I feel this happened as a result and my persistent interest and involvement in the International Cooperation Section of the Medical Library Association. So now new opportunities for international cooperation and travel have opened up for me. Since 1995, I attended EAHIL conferences in Prague (1995), Coimbra, Portugal (1996), Budapest (1997), and Utrecht, the Netherlands (1998). In 1999, I will attend the EAHIL meeting in Tartu, Estonia, and I am currently on the Program Planning Committee for this meeting.

In 2000, I will attend the 8th International Congress of Medical Librarianship in London (this is a joint meeting with EAHIL) and I am on the Scientific Program Committee for this meeting too.

Indeed, MLA’s International Cooperation Committee broadened my horizons. But more importantly, my international experiences have made my life profoundly more meaningful, more exciting, and more joyful. I tell you all of this to say:

Reach Out To The World! It all starts with just $10 by joining the International Cooperation Section of MLA!

Join the International Cooperation Section - Get Involved - Travel Abroad!
